

DONALD R. WILD

Don Wild has served as lead counsel in over forty major civil jury trials and in several additional court trials.

Born in San Francisco, he grew up in the Bay Area. He graduated with honors with a degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Arizona, where he also played NCAA Division One football. He obtained his law degree, also with honors, from Loyola (Los Angeles) Law School in 1969. Prior to forming his own law firm in 1980 he was the managing partner of a national law firm's San Francisco and Los Angeles offices.

Don has a wealth of civil litigation experience, with particular emphasis on bad faith and other insurance coverage disputes, major personal injury and wrongful death, product liability, professional liability, and transportation (truck accidents).

Don has obtained favorable verdicts (defined as complete wins or outcomes better than the client's final pretrial offer or demand, with trial costs factored in) in more than 80% of the cases he has tried. He is a long time member of the American Board of Trial Advocates, the Trucking Industry Defense Association, and more recently the National Board of Trial Advocacy.

Don has also conducted case law update and loss prevention seminars for clients, and has testified as an expert witness on attorney standard of care and insurance bad faith issues.
